We help community enterprise flourish

A short case study:

Sandringham Enterprise Limited is currently supporting a local florist – a family business started by retired forces personnel.

We have been able to design and host a web site for their enterprise and are currently working with the business to complete our development report on how the business can flex its marketing for maximum impact.

See www.ridgewayflowers.co.uk

We are working to create a blog for the business to publish its news and special offers, whilst also making recommendation as to how services like Twitter and Facebook can be integrated into their web presence to develop sales and customer service.

The business is also looking to develop a number of new products and services over the summer of 2011.

Sandringham Enterprise is helping advise on content, strategy and delivery in these areas if we can.

We can find support and expertise across a broad range of social business and community development areas for you.

We are always impartial, independent and free at the point of delivery.
